From simple effects like using the adjustments tool to more complicated tasks, like drawing and painting on top of an image or putting a new filter on an image, Photoshop is the go-to program for making photo edits. It is the king of image editing tools in terms of its versatility and capability. It uses layers for its editing and manipulation process. Once a photo has been edited, this layered system is one of the most important elements in a professional's arsenal. Every variation of a photo is a composition of layers. The top layer is the photo itself, and the layers below it are subject to the changes that are made. Photoshop also has presets that can be used for complex changes, and you can easily add a layer below any preset layer so you can easily return to them when working. Photoshop has a powerful and simple command line interface that is easy to learn and provide instant results. You can also click through menu choices rather than typing in commands. You can open, save, export, and even print files. How to use the Photoshop Camera Raw There is a specific Camera Raw filter used when the camera is being used as the source for the photo. Q: Notepad++ - How to add a new entry to a list of files? I'm not familiar with Notepad++ but want to add some entries to a list of files. I can choose them in the "Load" window. The question is what do I enter to add a new entry to a list? Is there an option like some "Add next to first" functionality? A: As comments already mentioned, I would suggest using a simple text editor that supports user defined lists (e.g. Notepad++, TextPad,...) To define and list or edit the entries in the list, find a way to create a user-defined list. I for example suggest the following way (found here): Open Notepad++, and select "File > New List". Create a new list After opening the "List options" dialog, Click on the plus sign on the right side of the list name Double-click on a row to change it In the "List contents" section, Select the list tab Click on the Add button to define the item You may further edit the item settings in the "Options dialog" Alternatively, Notepad++ has a user-defined list There, you can define the list and edit the entries. To add an item to the list, select the list tab, and type some text in the "Add text" field: You may also add and remove items by clicking on the "Add" and "Remove" buttons. To add an item, simply click on the "Add text" field and type some text, press enter to add an item at the current position and double click on an item to change it: I don't know how you can add a new entry to an existing list - it seems that you cannot do that. 1.
