The next few slides will examine some of the details you need to consider when you're creating a photoshopped image for your business. 1. Create It Once you have a concept for your image, the next step is to start creating the image. This can be accomplished in a number of ways. Some images are made from scratch. Others can be designed and then developed in other applications like Adobe Illustrator or Adobe Photo Shop, then brought into Photoshop using the Photoshop's Import command. Still others are made from scratch in Photoshop. Regardless of how you create an image, the first step is to open Photoshop and begin adding layers to your image. Because the human genome consists of approximately 30,000 genes, it is impossible to discover novel genes by gene sequencing. As a result, what have become known as cDNA libraries, i.e., libraries of cDNA clones encoding human proteins, play an important role. The simplest source of cDNA clones is to clone from a cDNA library the cDNA fragments that are the products of direct sequences of mRNA transcripts. Many cDNA libraries have been generated in the prior art, including most notably the human genomic library of Maniatis et al., Proc. Natl. Acad. Sci. USA 82: 7145-7149 (1985) (humans); Stratagene, Inc. 547 S.W.2d 505 (1977) Lola ALLEN, Appellant, v. Alton YOUNG, Appellee. No. 19773. Court of Civil Appeals of Texas, Dallas, March 18, 1977. *506 Neil E. Norbeck, of Kornak, Veley & Parker, Dallas, for appellant. Wayne Rooney, Dallas, for appellee. AKIN, Justice. Appellee Alton Young sued appellant Lola Allen for fraud and obtained a default judgment against her in the amount of $16,000. Appellee then sued appellant and her husband H. W. Allen for recovery of the same $16,000 on a sworn account. Appellant answered, alleged the default judgment as a defense, and filed a cross-action against the Allens seeking a judgment against them for $16,000 on a sworn account. Appellant filed a motion to consolidate the suit against her with the suit against the Allens, based on the pleadings, which was overruled. Appellant now brings two points of error contending that the judgment should be reversed and rendered on the grounds that the trial court erred in failing to grant a motion for consolidation and in failing to transfer the case. We affirm. The Allens filed their petition in the District Court of Dallas County on May 11, 1976. Appellant's cross-action was filed in the same cause in the same court on June 9, 1976. The cross-action named appellant as the defendant and H. W. Allen and T. D. Allen, the Allens' son, as additional defendants. T. D. Allen had not been served and the default judgment awarded to appellee was only against appellant. Appellant's cross-action also sought judgment against all defendants for $16,000 on a sworn account. Appellant's answer in the district court alleged that the default judgment against her was void and that the judgment should be set aside and that H. W. Allen and T. D. Allen were discharged and released from any liability in the suit because no judgment had ever been rendered against them. She alleged that the trial court denied the motion to consolidate and transfer, and this is the basis of her first and second points of error. The motion to consolidate and transfer was sworn and was filed on June 16, 1976. The transcript, however, does not contain the order
