After taking part in VFL practice last week, Jones was forced to pull out of the main training session on Thursday due to soreness. The club is confident that Jones' issue will not present a long-term concern, however he will not play in the Bulldogs' round one match against Hawthorn. "Herald was meant to be running on Thursday and we decided it would be best for him to have a bit of time off," Bulldogs Head Physiotherapist Simon Burstyn said. "He had some tightness down his left hamstring on Thursday morning and we did some assessment on that, so we've just kept him off and he's in the best possible position to assess the following week." In other injury news, in line for an early week return is Zac Clarke. The West Coast Eagles youngster has recovered from the ankle injury he sustained in last Saturday's NAB Challenge match and is set to take part in light running duties at VU Whitten Oval this weekend.The way I work is I have a couple of samples of my work that I work on as I go along, and I'll just create a blank canvas for these to give me ideas on how to proceed, and I think
