"Back in the day, mankind was forced to progress by using energy and resources just to stay alive and free, a concept they called Fire. The only drawback? The Fire was destroying all that existed and would soon be the only thing that remained if mankind wasn't careful... until someone realized that the Fire needed to be extinguished, and all of mankind's restrictions be lifted. No more limitations, no more arrows, no more cinders, no more true freedom! And so, was born the Un-Fire... If you think "Assassin's Creed" is there's for games, then Flamebound is there for you. Flamebound is an adventure, action-rpg through & through, but it does look like a hardcore retro game at the same time. It uses the very same sprite assets as the game "Flashback", which doesn't have sound effects, but Flamebound has so there's no reason to not play this if you love retro RPGs! I've chosen to complete the whole game story, so you can reach the final boss. We start our adventure as a hero, and gather our first 3 buddies in the Tavern. We get equipped with weapons and armor, gear our heroes up and head out into the very first dungeon! If you're thinking about playing this game the first thing you should know is that it's basically the game "Flashback" but with everything changed, even down to the graphics! All new screens, music and sound effects, and also all new events and bosses as well. Flamebound features 18 unique heroes each with their own skills. 4 different dungeon biomes with their own randomized mobs & bosses. Mini bosses & end game bosses that drop all kind of precious loot, which can be used to gear up your hero squad! During combat you can also upgrade your character attack and health using gold you looted from the damned. But don't worry if you're out of luck, you can go on a shopping spree in the mysterious shop! Back in the Tavern you can use gold & fireshards to unlock new rare heroes and then head to the sacrifice screen to combine same rank heroes thus making them way more powerful than ever! About The Game Back in the day, mankind was forced to progress by using energy and resources just to stay alive and free, a concept they called Fire. The only drawback? The Fire was destroying all that existed and would soon be the only thing that remained if mankind wasn't careful... until someone realized that the Fire needed to be extinguished

Bhavacakra: Maco of the Azure is a 3D open world tactical RPG. Filled with sense of adventure. A game with a unique medieval feel. This game is developed for the gamers who want a more intimate and personal experience. A View from the Creators's Perspective: We feel that gaming is a sport, like riding a bicycle. We want to make sure that people that are into this game enjoy playing it. We want to make a game that you would want to put down whenever you want to relax. We would like to give people something that they can do if they feel like doing something. We want to make a game that everyone can enjoy. We would like people to enjoy themselves while being immersed in the game world. People that game at this day in age should have an easy time learning this game. We want to make sure you can do it right away. The game will not be a button mashing game like modern day RPG's. In order to learn the game world, it is important that everyone's in the mood to learn and find out. We are not doing what most games do. We are not trying to copy others. We are going to make this game unique. We do not want to make this game because someone else is making it. We want to make this game because we enjoy making it. We want to make something that we can show to our families. People that game should not play for fun. It is not a sport. It is a game. We want to make a game that we can show our friends and family. We want to make something that we can say is our own original game. We want to make something that we can show someone else and that person will say 'Wow, this game is amazing!' When the unthinkable occurs, life changes forever. The Chernobyl exclusion zone is a place of haunting stillness, an apocalyptic wasteland where radiation from the nearby nuclear reactor is so high that it has effectively turned the land into a permanent, post-apocalyptic ghost land, inhabited only by the ghosts of this world. Just like its name, the Zone is haunted by the horrors of the past... The Zone is a point-and-click adventure simulation game. This is a story about a former journalist, Julian Savitch, who returns to Chernobyl for his personal revenge after being completely ruined by his corrupt colleagues. In the Zone he meets a young woman, Lisa, who is on the run from her own government and she gives him a letter before she is killed. Savitch discovers the letter says that some of the USSR's most powerful figures are at the heart of the unimaginable events that have taken place in the Zone. He returns to Chernobyl, only to find his plans to expose those involved in a deadly betrayal and bring them to justice complicated by his growing sense of duty to the many ghostly visitors he begins to meet in the Zone.
