– Second games in series The features of the previous game are as follows:Unique (in the genre) game-friendly systemThe quality of graphics is quite good, and the background music is very good and exciting The sound is not perfect, but it is not bad The plot develops in a fantastic way, but not always gives a feeling of danger makes a great sense Everything that happened, was resolved in a timely and logical way: no unexpected twists The hero is worthily helped The characters of the main cast have developed (I need to say it again) They are cool and charismatic The game contains many interesting and not always typical elements of the genre, which adds interesting and new to the atmosphere The world of the game is absolutely interesting and atmospheric, and the events of the game look quite good It is worth the price of the game as it is a relatively large game, it contains a lot of content The uniqueness of the game is that it deals with many problems, which usually are not that are not difficult to solve in the genre gameplay (light adventures, sandbox games etc.), but in this game it is easy to control the character and your actions will have consequences I need to say that the game is a great success, after the previous part, so I understand why Duil has received a higher price in the shop Thumbs up. [PS] The game contains plenty of bugs, and I repeat: I DO NOT RECOMMEND PLAYING IT UNTIL IT'S FIXED! ReplayabilityDuil is great. Each playthrough you can play it in different ways, to the amount of items and in the manner of the unlocking of these items. You will get more and more powerful weapons, new spells, armor and so on. I recommend this game. PlayabilityI'm playing it for the first time and I have a lot of fun! I recommend this game Engaging GameplayIs the gameplay very fun. The game contains many fun challenges and puzzles, as well as a variety of difficulties. I recommend this game. Props to the man who wrote the script and the good old battle-cry of the adventurer! I really liked the game, but I will be honest: It's an incredible short game, therefore I can only give a minimum of five. However I do not say that to put myself on a higher level, because I believe that the game has an immense potential! If the developers manage

"How far are we going?" Gary asked as the train eased forward.
"That depends," James replied. "If all goes according to plan we should get there in... 9hrs." "AHhhhh... that's long, even for a train." Gary complained "We'll be there in time for the harvest though, right?" Howard said. "Howard, unlike Gary, I know what time of year it is..." James huffed. "Sorry," the railbull said. "It must have bugged me seeing all those corn fields while I was sitting here reading." "Yeah well that's what happens when you ask a level designer the time in exile," Gary scoffed. "All you do is sit in your corner and mess around with things." "So you've noticed," James replied. "Stop insulting Gary!" Howard howled, but before the sentence was complete a loud bleep, then a second took over and the train's acceleration increased to full throttle.
"Ooohaaaa..." Gary groaned. "Gary..." Howard yelled.
"...Aaaaaaaaaaaaaahhhh....." "Great...🔍"

Unfortunately this means that we cannot offer local language translations or game text before the game launches. Some of the game text does have and will always be available in multiple languages - however, we expect it to be mostly English at launch and provide translations after launch for each language that is supported. I am not going to bother to read any further, I am just going to list what I think is wrong with the game. 1. Slots for buildings. I am fine with this in Clash, but not with Clash of Clans. In Clash, you have 3 slots per village for towers, barracks, and their respective upgrade cards. In Clash of Clans, you just have 6 slots, and only 6 different upgrades and cards. In Clash of Clans, you can have one or two villages on the field at once, but in Clash of Clans, you can have multiple. 2. Units. In Clash of Clans, you only get about a third of the cards that you get in Clash. So, you are restricted to about 4 cards of each type, with the exception of archers, and except for one card per unit type. 3. Available buildings. In Clash of Clans, you have more buildings that you have to decide on. You have to choose between 9 different buildings, some of which are a little different, and then you have over 30 upgrades, and up to 5 upgrades per building, and then they have to be chosen. They could have chosen the same cards as Clash, but they chose a different set. 4. Varietys. In Clash, you have to choose one or two different units for each attack, and
