Last updated on. From the section Football Liam Robertson first started playing for Airdrie in 1995. Liam Robertson has been hailed as a hero after pulling a player off a professional pitch following a brawl. The 22-year-old helped to haul a Rangers player away from Aberdeen's James Kennedy at the bottom of the Dens Park pitch following an altercation. Kennedy, 29, has been charged by the SFA for "knowingly acting in, or representing in public, a manner that is grossly insulting or is of an abusive or threatening nature". Meanwhile, Aberdeen midfielder Neil Clark, 21, faces no disciplinary action for allegedly stamping on an opponent's head. The club will hold a short conference on Tuesday morning. An Aberdeen statement said: "Neil Clark is appealing against the red card decision. The case will be heard on Tuesday. "A statement will be made at that hearing and Clark will be ineligible to feature in any further matches until the hearing is concluded." Robertson, a former Airdrie defender, was on the receiving end of Kennedy's sucker punch when the sides met in the Scottish Cup semi-final on 25 April and lost 1-0. Kennedy, who was charged and was later found guilty of violent conduct after the match, apologised to Robertson after the incident. And Robertson has been hailed as a "hero" by his former side, who are out of contract in June. Airdrie manager John Brown was on the touchline at Hampden Park that day, and said: "Liam is the hero of the day. We all knew about what happened. We saw Liam tackle him and it seemed to be a slight and someone didn't like it. "The Aberdeen player was trying to kick Liam Robertson's head in. He just caught Liam in the mouth and hit him in the shoulder. We're all glad Liam is OK and I'm sure the Aberdeen player will feel sick after what he did. "What's happened hasn't taken anything away from Liam's career, it's his reaction he has shown. He has given a tremendous, impeccable reaction from that incident.", claimed that he had performed a miracle in its behalf; it had been restored by the timely charge of the archbishop, and many pious persons were so much taken with this miracle that the bishop's attitude was recalled, and he restored the archbishop to his bishop
