Elden Ring, an action-RPG game in the beginning, and a management game of the character's reputation, which was the basis of the previous RPG game, is being developed by a core team including members that worked on the first two games. ■Content ■Character Creation You can customize your character, selecting from a variety of character appearances, such as protagonists, princesses, goddesses, knights, men, women, and other weapons. While customizing your appearance, you can freely adjust the character's body, facial expression, hair, accessories, and the like. You can also have fun with the various hairstyles you have acquired over the course of your character's journey. ■Characteristics Character appearance is reflected in game content, such as items that will be found in dungeons and in shops. You will also be able to enjoy a variety of rare items, unique weapons, special armor, and other content. There are also various specialized content available depending on your character's level, such as recipes for crafting weapon and armor, and those for filling slots in your character card. ■Battle A turn-based battle system where you and your allies fight against enemy units. Multiple layers of monsters appear, so it's necessary to strategize. ■Action You will be able to enjoy a variety of actions, such as swinging the weapon, using magic, and defeating enemies. You will also have the opportunity to use items, the effects of which vary according to the situations and tactics applied at the time. ■Fame You will be able to earn fame by defeating monsters, and you will increase your reputation by completing various quests and acting with honor. ■Update An update is made approximately every two weeks, introducing a variety of new contents. ■Battle System Elden Ring, an action-RPG game in the beginning, and a management game of the character's reputation, which was the basis of the previous RPG game, is being developed by a core team including members that worked on the first two games. ■Character Creation You can customize your character, selecting from a variety of character appearances, such as protagonists, princesses, goddesses, knights, men, women, and other weapons. I'm trying to make a printable postcard and I need to fix the design. I've been using the posterazor template and I put the map on top of the map and I have the puzzle pieces on top of the map but I would like to have it so that the map and puzzle pieces go under the map. I have tried to tweak the template a bit. Not sure if this was the correct way to go about it. New to the forums as I want to get the poster into print asap. I tried to do this with the GraphicsPro program and I don't have the time to sit and tweak it for hours to get the look right. You can see the current version is a bit messy looking and is as much a starting point as a finished project. I am hoping to get more creative with the layout and the design and the project going forward. This is a specific project for a specific person. Below I've included a preview of the printable postcard that I had created with the posterazor template. The problem I have is I can't seem to figure out how to 'duplicate' the map across from the puzzle so that it goes under the puzzle. I want to have the puzzle go under the map but when you select the content from the editor, the map opens first, then the puzzle, then the map. This creates a problem. I've never been able to figure out how to send it to the custom tab in the editor with the map attached to the content, so I either make
